Addressing University of Alberta Student Mental Health Issues

PROJECT DESCRIPTION

The purpose of this study is to collect information regarding student wellness, particularly during first year of University. I am interested to learn what helps or hinders student wellness in all aspects, including mental, emotional and physical health. I am also interested to learn more about students’ awareness of and experiences with health services at the University of Alberta, and student ideas on how to improve wellness on our campus. Interns will participate in qualitative research data collection (focus group interviews, photo/voice) and analysis.
